

"Love, Limits, & Lessons" Secrets for Raising Cooperative Kids

Bill Corbett

Speaker · Writer · Trainer · Parent Coach

Bill Corbett is the author of the book Love, Limits, & Lessons: A Parent's Guide to Raising Cooperative Kids, and creator and president of the national training organization, Cooperative Kids. He is an award winning speaker with Toastmasters International and the creator and host of the radio talk show "Parent Talk." Bill has developed and presented programs for such organizations as Dollar General Corporation, the State of Tennessee, and the University of Arkansas. He has a degree in psychology from University of Phoenix and is a member of the American Psychological Association. Bill sits on the resource advisory board of Attachment Parenting International and his syndicated column on discipline appears in many family publications across the country. He has 3 grown children, 2 grandchildren, and lives with his wife Elizabeth near Hartford, Connecticut.

Parenting Classes

-Weekend experiences with life changing results

"His classes were interesting, engaging, and filled with useful suggestions that parents could go home and implement immediately." - Parent Coordinator

Staff & Parent Seminars

-Powerful, fun, and interactive workshops

"You are a superb teacher, with a unique ability to involve an audience, and to convey new information. Your presentation style is absorbing."

- Early Education Program Manger

Keynotes

-Entertaining lecture incorporating props and visuals

"Recently, Mr. Corbett presented at the Tennessee Family Literacy Partnership Institute and participants were unanimous in rating his presentation as excellent on all levels. I would highly recommend him as a presenter."

- Director of Early Childhood Programs

"Mr. Corbett's presentation was excellent... his ideas were very practical and presented with a common sense approach. I had very positive feedback from those attending and had a number of people tell me the next day that they had already put some of his suggestions into practice and they worked! Mr. Corbett has much insight into children and family dynamics and he has much to offer parents and teachers in our community."

Sherry Smith, Assistant Director
Child Development Center
Dollar General Corporation

For a common sense approach on discipline that works, call Bill at (866) 570-6824 · bill@CooperativeKids.com